

ANOTHER THREAT BY HYLAN TO TAKE OVER THE SUBWAYS

Resolution Charges Jamming and Unclean Cars Is Violation of Contract With City.

The Hyman Administration today, for the second time within fifteen months, threatened to take legal steps to seize and take over the subway. Today's threat, instead of being immediately acted upon by the Board of Estimate, was suddenly shifted to the committee of the whole.

The Hyman resolution of today bears a striking resemblance to the one the Mayor submitted before he was re-elected and while transit and the subway were making campaign issues.

The resolution provides "that notice is hereby given to the said Transit Commission that it is requested and required forthwith to give the appropriate thirty days notice to the said Interborough Rapid Transit Company as such lessee, that the City of New York will take the necessary steps and bring and maintain the proper action or proceedings to enforce compliance by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company with the conditions, obligations and requirements of the said lease, so that, in case the said lessee does not cure its said defaults as directed within ninety days as provided for in subway contract No. 3, the City of New York will exercise its rights and option to terminate the said contract and take possession of the said railroads and use, maintain and operate the same in the public interest."

The Corporation Counsel is instructed to have certified copies of the resolution served upon the Transit Commission and the Interborough—provided the committee of the whole reports favorably on the Mayor's action.

Comptroller Craig, who expressed the opinion that the city can act independently of the Transit Commission, moved that the Mayor's resolution be referred to the committee of the whole. There was no doubt in the Comptroller's mind that the Interborough had violated its contract and that the city should seize the subway. It was only a question as to which should be first taken possession of, the Seventh Avenue or the old Fourth Avenue, which are under different contracts.

FINANCIAL AID FOR INTERBOROUGH MAY BE ARRANGED

Information From Conference
Indicates $5,000,000 Obligations
Will Be Cared For.

Information sitting from a conference in the office of President Frank H. Hylan of the Interborough, which began at 10 o'clock this morning and was scheduled to last all day, was to the effect that the prospects are bright for a financial arrangement which will enable the Interborough to take care of obligations aggregating $5,000,000 in excess of resources, which are due to-morrow, and also for a readjustment of the contract between the In-terborough and the Manhattan Elevated.

The atmosphere of the Interborough headquarters was optimistic. It was announced that a statement for the public would be prepared late this afternoon to be promulgated through the morning newspapers to-morrow.

District Attorney Banton today denied that any of the books or papers upon which Edward Rende, an investor, based his charges against the bankrupt stock broker, firm of Thoms, Roberts & Stocker, formerly of No. 32 Broadway, had been lost. The report that the documentary evidence in the case had disappeared was "gross circulation last evening."

The books and papers were in the record room of the District Attorney's office, where they should have been, Mr. Banton said today, and they have been turned over to Assistant District Attorney Jerome Strommen, who has charge of the case in question.
